

SHARKFREESB.COM Guide

Sharks have been around for over 450 million years, surviving 5 mass extinctions that wiped out nearly all life on earth. As top level predators, sharks play a vital role in keeping our ocean's ecosystem balanced. Today, shark populations all over the world are being wiped out to keep up with the demand of shark fin soup and other shark products. We the consumers need to educate ourselves about this and decide if we want to be part of the problem or part of the solution.

Below is a list of restaurants that serve shark products in Santa Barbara, California, and a list of similar restaurants that do not.

Shark meat contains unsafe levels of mercury, according to the Food and Drug Administration, the American Heart Association and the Environmental Defense Fund. For more information visit SharkFreeSB.com
